

Orlando Trade Show Displays Company, Skyline, Offers I&D For DesignView Presentation System

Skyline Orlando I&D (installation and dismantle) services are now available for the DesignView Presentation System for trade show booths. Orlando exhibitors can rest easy before and after the event as the Skyline team handles I&D.

June 4, 2010 (FPRC) -- ORLANDO, FL - Skyline Orlando now offers installation and dismantle (I&D) services for the DesignView Presentation System at Orlando trade show displays. The services are available for events at all the major exhibition venues in Orlando and nearby locations.

Trained experts are equipped to handle the installation and dismantle of the booths as exhibitors enjoy the time to themselves before and after the exhibition in Orlando. I&D services can be added to the rental package available from Skyline Orlando.

"The DesignView Presentation System is an excellent choice for exhibitors at most event venues. With the addition of I&D services, exhibitors no longer have to worry about taking the time to setup the booth and ensure everything is in order. They can now focus their full attention to selling their products and services during the exhibition," said David Hoover, General Manager of the Skyline Orlando Service Center (<http://www.skylinecfl.com>).

The DesignView Presentation System offers a professional look at price that most exhibitors can afford. Skyline offers custom design services that can print a specialized background to highlight the presentation in the center of the screen. For exhibitors that are looking to save a few dollars, Skyline also offers one of four basic color borders available for the display. The screen is able to extend to 100 inches diagonally with the projector only 31" away from the screen.

The ability to get such a large picture at such a short distance is because of the Dukane ImagePro 8101H. It features a short throw distance which gives a bigger and better quality image from short distances. This means that there will be plenty of walking space behind the projector allowing a unhindered presentation to run at the trade show booths. Orlando exhibitors can contact Skyline today to reserve the DesignView Presentation System with the Dukane ImagePro 8101H for their next Orlando exhibition.
