

The Equestrian Corner Now Offers New Troxel Riding Helmets

The Equestrian Corner, a leading online retailer of equestrian apparel, announces an innovative line of high-quality Troxel Riding Helmets that put safety and style on equal footing.

June 22, 2010 (FPRC) -- BRONXVILLE, NY -- The Equestrian Corner, a popular online retailer known for quality equestrian clothing and horse tack now presents a new line of Troxel Riding Helmets that blend form, function, and a bit of fashion sense. Thanks to the use of advanced technology, bold colors and unique graphics, the riding experience is both productive and stylish.

Troxel Helmets feature mesh-covered vents, removable washable headliners, extended visors, and durable outer shells (both upper and lower). They are also available in a variety of styles and colors, so riders can choose different helmets to complement their existing horse tack and riding apparel.

"We are thrilled to offer the new Troxel helmets, because we know riders are really going to be pleased with their combination of visual elegance and durability. The technological advancements that Troxel has integrated into these new designs are a considerable plus," said Anne Coyle of The Equestrian Corner.

The new Cheyenne Rowdy Western helmet features a classic leather finish, along with moisture-wicking DRI-LEX® lining. These materials work together to create a helmet this is both stylish and tough enough for everyday use. The Troxel Dakota Traildust Riding Helmet sports a subtle sandstone-colored shell, soft-tip visor and patented Steel Garcia™ retention rings and leather retention straps. The addition of unique graphic design with a vintage feel adds to the helmet's appeal.

For the more adventurous, the Spirit Dreamscape features a horse motif on a Honeydew background, while the Spirit Starlight pairs a star design with a periwinkle background color. Young riders will especially appreciate these two new models for their whimsical visual qualities.

Troxel also offers its Grand Prix Riding Helmet, which offers English riders the classic appearance they need. Covered in elegant velvet, this helmet provides a slim profile and the patented Phantom-Flow™ button ventilation.

Opting for high-quality equipment is the best thing riders can do to ensure their own safety. When choosing equestrian apparel, the first decision that must be made is the selection of a helmet. In addition to the new line of Troxel Riding Helmets, The Equestrian Corner also offers a wide selection of helmets and helmet covers from Advance Technology, International Riding Helmets, LAS, KEP and other leading riding helmet brands.
