

Creative Juicez Takes Southern California Web Design to a New Level

When in need of new promotional material design, businesses can tap into what they need with fresh graphic, web site and direct mailer design from Creative Juicez.

June 29, 2010 (FPRC) -- LA QUINTA, CA -- The Company is ready to perform, the products and services are set – all the necessary pieces are in place. One issue remains: How to get the word out to customers? How can our business become a distinctive voice that keeps people coming back for more?

Graphics powerhouse Creative Juicez has the answer.

It's a two part process and it's easy: think print and think digital. The combination of these two media will take a business from unknown to renowned in the time it takes for a community of laptops to boot up. In other words – it literally takes minutes, if your message is crisp, compelling and clean.

Creative Juicez provides cutting-edge Southern California web design for clients, along with promotional material design, direct mailer design, postcard design and brochure design. Whether a business needs are more digital or more print-oriented, we can provide a solution that blends company identity, branded message and name recognition to increase return on investment.

“We are young and we are prepared to give every project personalized attention so that our customers can catch the newest wave in web design, graphic design and promotional material design in Southern California. Creative Juicez can help a company establish itself as an innovative force, no matter the industry, no matter the number of competitors it faces. We are masters in getting you in touch with your target audience,” said Greg Kain, President and SEO of Creative Juicez.

Affordable, accurate and respectful of a client's bottom line, Creative Juicez takes a company's message to the public without breaking the bank. When a business needs brochure design service, postcard design, direct mailer design or any other promotional design in Southern California or Palm Springs, Creative Juicez can provide a solution for any communications quandary.

About Creative Juicez:

A full-service Southern California graphic design and web design firm, Creative Juicez helps businesses create professional, affordable marketing materials that get results. Creative Juicez specializes in listening to clients, assessing their promotional needs and communicating the client's message effectively. We combine visually appealing graphic designs with crisp, fresh copy to produce digital and print campaigns that increase a company's reach and overall appeal.

Contact Information

For more information contact Mark Higbie of Creative Juicez (<http://www.creativejuicez.com>)
760-360-9300

Keywords

California web design

promotional material design
direct mailer design

You can read this press release online here