General Media, Inc. officially launched its new service Linknorati.com today offering the facility of directory submission and deep links submission.

August 6, 2010 (FPRC) -- Herndon, VA – General Media, Inc. today launched another innovative service offering a platform for directory submission. This New service named linknorati.com will also offer unique service of submitting links to inner pages (also called deep links) of a web site.

Directory Submission plays an important role in bringing traffic to a blog or website. There is always immense need for quality directory web sites, where webmasters can come and submit a link to their web site with META Tag information. It helps them in building reputation of their web sites in search engines. It also helps in escalating SERP's on all major search engines.

Although there are several directory submission web sites, but there were very less web sites accepting links of inner web pages of a web site. With launch of Linknorati.com, the problem of having very less deep links submission web sites has been reduced. Now, webmasters can submit deep links to linknorati.com without any worries.

When asked about the motive behind this web site, Linknorati.com owner, Mr Isaac Aboagye answered, "Being a webmaster myself, I understand the urgent need of web sites offering both directory submission and deep links submission. So, we are interested in providing an adequate platform to other webmasters, where they can come and post links (home page as well as inner pages) of their web sites. Linknorati.com will serve this essential purpose."
