August 19, 2010 (FPRC) -- Houston, TX- In response to the growing popularity of guided travel vacations, GoForLessTours.com (<http://www.goforlesstours.com>) has announced the launch of an initiative to specialize in the sale of escorted tour vacations. With an ever-growing number of options available to the leisure traveler, escorted tours offer an affordable and hassle-free way to get the most out of one's vacation. Escorted Tours are guided vacations led by a tour director who supervises the tour according to an itinerary. Intra-tour flights, hotels, transportation, transfers, most meals, and many sightseeing excursions are typically included but may vary depending on the tour operator and particular tour. Most tours travel by motorcoach and may be fast or slow paced depending on the itinerary.

'On an escorted tour, all of the sightseeing arrangements are made in advance, so there's no worry about which attraction to visit, figuring out directions, or a show selling out beforehand. Escorted travel operators are experts in arranging sightseeing excursions, so they know the most popular attractions and tour groups often are able to move to the front of entry lines to avoid the crowds,' says Scott Beasley, President of GoForLessTours.com.

GoForLessTours.com has partnered with some of the most established tour suppliers in the industry including Globus, Cosmos, Trafalgar, Insight, and Collette. These large escorted travel companies enjoy great buying power by booking travel arrangements in bulk. Additionally, GoForLessTours.com is able to offer clients low prices because of high sales volume with many of these operators. These relationships afford them exclusive pricing, and in turn the savings are passed on to traveler.

Escorted tours are available to worldwide destinations such as Europe, Africa, South America, China, France, Italy, Greece, and Australia to name a few. Quote requests can be made online or by calling 1-800-658-0869 to speak to a travel professional.
