Syracuse, NY (FPRC) August 21, 2010 -- Fledgling: Coiree Guardians – Book One has been receiving rave reviews on sites such as Thiszine, Amazon, Smashwords, and Goodreads. It is yet another vampire book, but one that takes the reader on a thrilling journey. The novel is centered on a different type of female lead for a book about vampires, Rebecka 'Beka' Saberhagen. Beka relies on her brother to take care of her, with a place to live and a place to work. It is while she is working for her brother, at the nightclub, she finds out that her brother's friend, Vincent, is a vampire. Before she has time to even accept that fact, she is attacked by another vampire. A giant named Steopa. It is Beka's will to survive that leads the reader into a deeper mystery surrounding the club and the other vampires.

The novel has been described as a mystery thriller with vampires. It is the first part of the series, but there is no cliffhanger ending. The novel can stand alone as a story, but leaves just enough questions to make a reader want to read the next book. This dark urban fantasy has already built a small fan base. Readers that are looking for something a little different on the vampire myth, should find something to enjoy in the novel.

The book signing will be held at Seven Rays Bookstore, 222 Walton Street, Amory Square, Syracuse NY. 315-424-9137. On September 11, 2010 from 1 pm to 5 pm.
