

WholesaleInsurance.net Expands Offices To Meet Growing Life Insurance Demands

Premier life insurance firm, WholesaleInsurance.net, recently expanded its operations to better serve customers. In its new, larger workspace, WholesaleInsurance.net can now effectively meet the increase in demand for life insurance quotes.

September 7, 2010 (FPRC) -- ROSEVILLE, CA -- Leading online life insurance brokerage company, WholesaleInsurance.net, recently announced the expansion of its current operations. The expansion provides even more workspace for employees, allowing them to better serve customers seeking life insurance quotes.

As part of the expansion, WholesaleInsurance.net burst into the building next door. By acquiring the adjacent space, the firm was able to maintain its current location and conveniently increase the size of its operations while avoiding the hassles and expense of a complete corporate relocation.

"The expansion of Wholesale Insurance offices is a direct result of the notable increase in demand for life insurance. We have seen tremendous growth in the life insurance market over recent months. Our newly expanded operations allows staff to more efficiently and comfortably meet the needs of customers inquiring about term life insurance quotes, whole life insurance quotes and general life insurance information," says Jon Pinney, Marketing Director of Wholesale Insurance.

For more than 35 years, WholesaleInsurance.net has striven to provide easy, fast and affordable life insurance options to meet the varying needs of its diverse clientele. As an independent life insurance agency, WholesaleInsurance.net offers unique life insurance policies from a wide variety of established life insurance companies. Through a winning combination of the latest technology and personalized, professional service, the specialists at WholesaleInsurance.net provide customers with many term life insurance, permanent life insurance and business life insurance options.

For added convenience to clients, WholesaleInsurance.net features a user-friendly website which includes invaluable life insurance resources and tools, including a quick life insurance calculator and life insurance dictionary. By providing customers with the most recent industry information and tools available, WholesaleInsurance.net helps them make informed life insurance decisions to best meet their current needs. Along with its ample online resources, WholesaleInsurance.net customers can also choose to interact with the firm's friendly staff, either via live online chat or phone, to answer any questions that may arise.

"Wholesale Insurance clients appreciate the resources available online, as well as the expertise of the company's courteous staff. We are excited about the growth our company has seen, both in our operation space and clientele. With our newly expanded operations, Wholesale Insurance specialists will now be able to more efficiently meet the needs of each and every client," concludes Pinney.

About WholesaleInsurance.net:

Wholesale Insurance was created to help families find the best term life insurance quotes online. Their site allows visitors to compare life insurance quotes from various companies. WholesaleInsurance.net is an independent life insurance agency which allows them to sell policies from many different life insurance companies. This ensures their customers get the best policy for the best price.

Contact Information

For more information contact Jon Pinney of WholesaleInsurance.net
(<http://www.wholesaleinsurance.net>)
1-800-823-4852

Keywords

life insurance

life insurance quotes

term life insurance quotes

You can read this press release online here