

WholesaleInsurance.net Now Offering Live Online Chat For Customers Seeking Life Insurance Advice

Online life insurance agency, WholesaleInsurance.net, now offers live online chat to better serve customers. With online chat, customers seeking life insurance rates and general information can interact with experienced insurance specialists.

September 7, 2010 (FPRC) -- ROSEVILLE, CA -- WholesaleInsurance.net, a leading life insurance brokerage company, recently unveiled a new online chat feature on its website to make shopping for life insurance even easier. Through the new online chat option, visitors to the site are able to interact in real time with WholesaleInsurance.net's professional insurance specialists. In addition to the online chat feature, customers can also choose to speak directly with an insurance advisor via phone.

To activate the online chat feature, customers simply need to click on the 'Live Online Support' button on the WholesaleInsurance.net website <http://www.wholesaleinsurance.net>. From there, users fill in detailed information about their life insurance question and hit 'submit' to promptly be connected with an experienced WholesaleInsurance.net advisor.

"Wholesale Insurance provides a wealth of information on its website to empower customers with the knowledge they need to make informed life insurance purchase decisions. With the addition of online chat, customers are now able to receive even more personalized life insurance answers through real-time interaction with our courteous insurance advisors," says Jon Pinney, Marketing Director of Wholesale Insurance.

As a premier independent life insurance agency, WholesaleInsurance.net has been providing affordable and quick life insurance quotes to customers for over 30 years. Because it is an independent agency, WholesaleInsurance.net works directly with top-rated insurance companies from around the country to offer the most competitive life insurance rates available. Through WholesaleInsurance.net's comprehensive online quoting system, users can easily find the best rates to meet their needs. Along with the quoting system, the company's website also offers many online tools, including a life insurance dictionary as well as a life insurance calculator.

In addition to its competitive rates and advanced online tools, WholesaleInsurance.net also prides itself in its superior customer service. Whether a client contacts the company via online or phone, WholesaleInsurance.net specialists are ready and willing to answer any life insurance questions that may arise. By working closely with clients to evaluate all possible life insurance options, the company's top insurance advisors are able to successfully help clients select the most appropriate life insurance plan to meet their current life status.

"Our winning combination of affordable insurance options, use of the latest technology and courteous staff has helped Wholesale Insurance become a leader in the industry. Now with the addition of the convenient online chat feature on our website, we can even better serve customers to help them make educated insurance buying decisions," concludes Pinney.
