

Trade Show Display Company, Skyline Exhibits Appoints Bill Dierberger President

Skyline Vice President Chosen to Head Leading Trade Show Exhibit Company.

October 22, 2010 (FPRC) -- Canada – Skyline Exhibits, the leading designer and producer of custom modular trade show displays and banner stands, has named Bill Dierberger its president. Dierberger formerly held positions as Skyline’s Director of Sales and, most recently, Vice President of Sales & Marketing.

“We’re ecstatic to have Bill lead Skyline going forward,” stated Paul Plunkett, Chairman, Board of Directors, Skyline Exhibits. “With his influence, we have created a culture of collaboration that has resulted in a highly-trained organization, numerous award-winning products, a nationally-recognized product development process and a strong service and support network.”

Since joining Skyline in 1999, Dierberger has been an advocate of education and training. Skyline personnel, from exhibiting consultants and designers to customer service and exhibit installers, are taught best practices and trained on the latest Skyline products and services. “My goal has always been to provide world-class service throughout our entire company,” said Dierberger.

New products are always key to Skyline’s growth. Cross-functional teams of marketers, designers and engineers have developed a method for success and the results have been impressive. In both 2009 and 2010, Skyline was honored with Buyers Choice Awards, which recognizes best new exhibiting products. Earlier this year, Skyline also won 2 of only 6 Product Design Awards at EXHIBITOR2010, the industry’s largest event.

Dierberger and his teams are also credited with developing much of Skyline’s current dealer network along with its regional Service Centers located in major North American venue cities as well as in China. Even with one of the most widespread networks in the exhibiting industry, Dierberger plans to further expand Skyline’s global reach, stating that the industry continues to move toward Skyline’s custom modular approach.

“I am honored to lead this company and this extraordinary team of employees and dedicated Skyline dealers,” said Dierberger. “We will continue to focus on design, customer service and exhibitor education intent on delivering the very best exhibiting experience to our clients all over the world.”
