

India Hosts KBSCMR's Conference Focuses on the Future in Pune

Directrooms.com reveals that as successful service management is one of the essential cogs of a nation's economic success, it can truly activate the whole economy when a sustained recovery becomes a clear mandate. India will host KBSCMR's Conference which focuses on the future

January 23, 2011 (FPRC) -- The growth of a nation in business is essential for the services industry. Exemplary business functioning is highly dependent on the outlook a business or an establishment and it shows. A vital factor in the displays of the attitude of a country is revealed in the manner that its services are supplied.

The 5th Annual International Research Conference (KBSCMR's) is setting out to ask questions on the right management of services, for example: Are the services in our nation managed correctly? Do they provide the needed projection of the correct attitude? Do they uplift the outward face of the nation? Can we do anything to change the total representation of the nation by how we remodel its services? This is a great opportunity for professionals can take the chance to come together in Pune to work on solutions to these vital issues.

Delegates will find that getting a hotel in Pune is no problem as there are an exciting array of venues, and a huge range of accommodation choices for all budgets.

Lek Boonlert, marketing head of DirectRooms said: 'This is the sort of conference which attracts some of the most vital minds to the floor. It is essential that conferences such as these come up with strong results for the future.'
