

TimeandAttendanceCompare.Com: A Free website for Comparing Time and Attendance Software Programs

TimeandAttendanceCompare.com is a new website to assist in the search for time and attendance software or scheduling software. Leading vendors and products are in one location for easy comparison.

February 13, 2011 (FPRC) -- TimeandAttendanceCompare.Com is a new website devoted to the time and attendance industry and designed for people looking for a time and attendance system or scheduling software. TimeandAttendanceCompare.Com brings many helpful features and options such as the Quick Filter, the Software Selection Tool, the Articles Library and more. There are two search tools for comparing and finding leading time and attendance industry products, all for free.

TimeandAttendanceCompare.Com is unique because it is an information website focused solely on the time and attendance industry and it benefits both the customers and the vendors in that industry equally. Customers can compare and find the products that they are looking for quickly and easily using either of the search products. Vendors can display their information on the site and receive leads from those visitors who have requested to be contacted.

The feedback from the visitors has been positive through the first two months of operation, November and December, 2010. The visitors enjoy being able to enter their criteria into the Software Selection Tool on the site and be shown a list of the products that match the criteria with the score that each product received according to the weighted rating system.

TimeandAttendanceCompare.Com has started with a select group of vendors to ensure a quality offering from the start. This initial group of vendors enjoyed a two month free trial during November and December 2010. As of January 1, 2011 these vendors are now paying a monthly subscription fee to be on the site and they are already seeing a tremendous return on their investments and giving very positive feedback.

Contact Information

For more information contact Bruce Anderson of TimeandAttendanceCompare.com
(<http://www.timeandattendancecompare.com>)
604-684-7922 ext 104

Keywords

time and attendance software
time and attendance system
scheduling software

You can read this press release online here