

Financial Spreads Improve Key Forex Spread Betting Markets

Financial Spreads has improved its pricing on a number of key forex markets. The company recently introduced Guaranteed Stops and has now tightened its pricing on a number of the most popular FX spread betting markets.

March 3, 2011 (FPRC) -- Financial Spreads, the London based spread betting firm, has improved its pricing on a number of the most popular forex markets.

The firm recently introduced Guaranteed Stops in order to help spread betting account holders manage their risks more effectively. The firm has now tightened its pricing on a number of key forex spread betting markets.

Along with stock market indices such as the FTSE 100 and the Dow Jones, forex markets are some of the most commonly traded financial spread betting markets. As a result, Financial Spreads have introduced tighter spreads for their popular Euro/Sterling and Dollar/Yen Rolling Daily markets to just one point.

Adam Jepsen, spokesperson for Financial Spreads, says that the improved pricing will provide clients with access to some of the tightest spreads in the industry. "We have been working hard on all aspects of our spread betting platform. Adding Guaranteed Stop Loss orders was a great way to improve our service and help our clients with their risk management strategies. We felt that the next step was to improve the pricing on key forex markets," he said.

"We already offer one point spreads on the FTSE 100, DAX 30 and Euro/Dollar markets. Tightening the spreads on the Euro/Sterling and Dollar/Yen markets from two points to just one point means that spread bettors can now speculate on a range of markets with some of the tightest spreads around."

Tighter spreads are important for investors as tighter pricing means that a market doesn't have to move as much before a trade can closed for a profit.

However, even with tighter spreads, spread betting carries a high level of risk to your capital. It may not be suitable for all investors. It is possible to lose more than your initial investment. Only speculate with money that you can afford to lose. Please ensure you fully understand the risks involved and seek independent financial advice where necessary.

About Financial Spreads

Based in London, Financial Spreads is a trading name of London Capital Group which is authorised and regulated by the Financial Services Authority. LCG is a company registered in England and Wales, company number: 3218125, registered address: 12 Appold Street, London EC2A 2AW.

Investors can trade more than 2,000 financial markets over the phone and via the website, www.FinancialSpreads.com. The wide range of trading opportunities covers forex markets, stock market indices, commodities, bonds and interest rates as well as shares listed in the UK, America and many other countries.

<http://www.financialspreads.com> offers commission free trading and lets investors speculate on whether the markets will go up or down. Clients can also access a range of charts and research data.

Contact Information

For more information contact Adam Jepsen of Financial Spreads (<http://www.financialspreads.com/>)
020 7234 9124

Keywords

forex spread betting

tighter spreads

spread betting platform

You can read this press release online here