

Mindabilities Services Announces the Launch of a New Pioneering Website

Mindabilities.com is an ideal website for those seeking to discover their full potential and make their lives extraordinary.

April 7, 2011 (FPRC) -- George C. Georgiou, paranormal investigator and researcher of more than 20 years is now the creator of <http://www.mindabilities.com>.

Founder Mr. Georgiou reports 'I was always fascinated by the mysterious world of our mental powers and abilities so I decided to gather all the scattered knowledge with regards to this area of study to one place. I am also a strong believer that a large amount of our true potential remains unused or even undeveloped. I will also cover topics from the realms of the paranormal, parapsychology and metaphysics all of which are of interest to me and I am sure to many more people out there!'

The team behind www.MindAbilities.com is committed in gathering all the latest information which relate to our object of interest, from various sources like articles, books and videos and make them available to our visitors who are kin on educating themselves in these matters.

There are some genuine products in the market which are designed to open up our minds, strengthening our existing mind abilities and even discovering some new ones! MindAbilities.com are personally committed in reviewing the many courses and software that promise to train your mind and recommend to you only the very best, that way you will not waste both your time and money on products that do not deliver what they promise.

In the near future, they are hoping to organize seminars with predominant presenters from this field and then make them available to the general public.

Their aim is to make www.mindabilities.com the biggest directory for finding tools for the mind, body and spiritual development. A place for people who are interested in the above mentioned topics to come and find enough resources to educate themselves as much as they want.
