June 2, 2011 (FPRC) -- HairGrowingProducts.org, a website dedicated to reviewing hair growing products, is pleased to announce that the e-book, "Hair Growth Guide" is now available for free download.

"Many people who are losing their hair ask themselves whether fast hair growth is even a possibility," said Alex Fir, editor in chief of HairGrowingProducts.org. "They want to know are there simple natural ways to grow hair faster. We believe there are and in this free e-book we reveal some good home treatments."

Inside this free report, readers will find these chapters:

- Seven home remedies for hair growth.
- Best essential oils for hair growth.
- Eight natural DHT blockers.
- Olive oil for improved hair growth.
- How apple can stimulate hair growth.
- Increase hair growth with bee pollen.
- Simple secret to accelerating hair growth.

"When we talking about how to make hair grow faster, people always think they need to buy some miraculous product that is going to grow their hair almost instantly. The very first thing we tell them is that there are no miraculous treatments that can grow hair over night. The second thing we tell them is to try natural remedies before buying a hair growth product. If they do not know which home remedy to try, we gave them this guide. Because we received lots of good feedback from those who read the book, we decided to make it available to all people," says Fir.

Hair loss can affect anyone. According to statistics, hair loss affects about 35 million men and 21 million women in the United States alone. 40 percent of men have noticeable hair loss by age 35 and 65 percent by age 60. On the other hand, 50 percent of all women experience hair loss by age 50.
