Muisings Freelance Content Writing has launched its first in a series of 'Quick Guides' to assist small businesses and bloggers harness the power of SEO and internet to further their business' and sites.

June 25, 2011 (FPRC) -- Muisings Freelance Content Writing, a full-service SEO content writing site, based out of Bedford, Massachusetts and Laurel, Maryland has announced that they will be released FREE 'Quick Guides' for small business owners and bloggers to assist in optimizing their business sites for search engine rankings.

The first 'Quick Guide' titled 'Keyword Research and Usage', a 6-page go-to reference is now available on their sites at www.elmuise.blogspot.com or www.muisingsfreelancewriting.blogspot.com

'I wanted to provide these 'Quick Guides' as a way for people who were not familiar with all of the details with website optimization and campaigning to have a series of easy-to-follow tip packages that they could turn to when needed. At least get them off in the right direction anyway,' writes founder and CEO, Ken Muise.

Mr. Muise also added that while the 'Quick Guides' DO promote the use of a content writing service in no way does it advertise for his business. 'In fact,' Muise said, 'the guide itself which is absolutely free states to the reader that they should research different sites and freelancers to decide which types best suits their needs.'

Muisings plans to release a series of 'Quick Guides' to assist the small business owner and blogger to enhance their websites power on the net and reach a wider audience that they may be missing otherwise.
