

Martins Driving Academy Employs More Instructors in the Birmingham Area

Martins Driving academy have recently employed yet another driving instructor in the winson green area. This will enable them to extend their services beyond the western boarder or birmingham

July 2, 2011 (FPRC) -- Martins Driving Academy have just expanded the company further by employing an extra driving instructor in winson green, and would like to welcome Mr Neville Hemmings (ADI) to their team. This expansion will mean that the company can offer their high quality teaching services to people in the west side of birmingham and just outside of the city limits. It will also enable the company to offer more of their specialist services such as taxi driver training to that area of birmingham.

Previously MDA have struggled to provide driving lessons to the amount of pupils requesting them in the birmingham area, this is set to change in the near future by the company expanding and looking to take on several more driving instructors over the forth coming months. Due to the reputation of the company they have always had a high workload, this has meant that in the past they have had to refuse pupils who live towards the west of birmingham purely because of the lack of instructors to cover this area. This should no longer be an issue for the company.

As always the MDA have taken the time to select a fully qualified and DSA approved instructor which will mean the highest teaching standards are maintained within the company. Unlike many schools who use unqualified or under trained instructors it is MDA's policy to ensure that all of their driving instructors are fully qualified and teach to the highest possible standards. They employ a strict policy of no trainee instructors!

Martins Driving Academy provide high quality, yet low cost driving lessons in birmingham and the surrounding areas and hope is that this expansion of the team will enable more young drivers easy access to high quality instruction from local driving instructors who understand their needs.
