

GreenWorld (BVI) Offers Renewable Energy Investment to the Retail Market

Socially responsible investment produces green renewable energy in Australia and provides dividends to investors

July 17, 2011 (FPRC) -- Boutique investment firm GreenWorld (BVI) announced that it now is able to offer individuals a unique renewable energy investment in Australia. The investment is designed to produce green electricity and other green byproducts, strictly from renewable forestry resources.

The investment is based a green oil producing tree called Millettia Pinnatta. The Millettia tree lives for up to 100 years with a productive life of 65 to 70 years and the trees are planted in a forestry plantation in Queensland, Australia. The investor receives an agricultural land lease in GreenWorld (BVI)'s Millettia plantation, and the lease is fully registered in the investor's name at the Australian Land registry.

Clients are offered an opportunity choose either a five year investment term or a 10 year term, both of which offer dividends. Those payouts escalates on a yearly basis up to 17%, and the investment also provides for a return on all capital at the end of the investment term.

"GreenWorld (BVI) is pleased to offer what we feel is a unique high-return renewable energy investment," commented Josh Cohn, a Partner at GreenWorld (BVI), "and we feel it has the added benefit of being situated in a safe country such as Australia where investors can count on the rule of law and a fair legal environment," added Cohn. Cohn further noted that GreenWorld (BVI) has seen a substantial uptick in interest from individuals in GreenWorld's portfolio of farmland, forestry and renewable energy investments, which Cohn attributed to continued anxiety stemming from the collapse in financial markets in 2008.
