

Erin McLean Events Organizes Wedding For Bride Who Had to Delay Her Wedding After Becoming Paralyzed at Her Bachelorette Party

Erin McLean was the wedding planner for Rachelle Friedman who had to delay her wedding for a year after receiving a paralyzing injury. With Erin at the helm, the dream wedding was a great success. As her gift to them, Erin offered her complete services free of charge.

July 28, 2011 (FPRC) -- Erin McLean, wedding planner and event designer, is proud to have organized Rachelle Friedman's wedding to Chris Chapman and is delighted to have been able to offer her services for free and help to make Rachelle's day special.

It was just over a year ago that Rachelle survived an accident that left her paralyzed from the chest down. At her bachelorette party last May, a friend pushed her into the pool as a joke, but when she hit the concrete bottom disaster struck. Now with the support of friends, family and a variety of organizations, including Erin McLean Events, the couple have been able to tie the knot in spectacular fashion.

"Erin is our Wedding Coordinator/Planner extraordinaire! She is generously offering her complete services at no charge" said Rachelle just before the big day. "She has such a big heart and is so fun to work with. She is detailed, organized, creative and knows everyone in North Carolina, it seems—every need we have, she knows just the person to call!"

It is this attention to detail and her large number of contacts in North Carolina that has made Erin one of the most popular event planners in the state. During the run up to the wedding Rachelle's dress needed to be modified from its original design to accommodate the physical changes she has undergone since her accident. Rachelle was worried that she would have to choose a new dress. Thankfully, Erin knew a great tailor who was able to rebuild the dress to accommodate Rachelle's now much smaller torso.

As part of the efforts to turn the disaster of 2010 into a beautiful success in 2011, Erin was able to raise over $15,000 worth of local services and so contribute to making the happy couple's wedding day extra special.

"The planning has been such a joy" said Erin. "Not only are they an example of true love and dedication, they are one of the funniest couples I have met!"

About Erin McLean Events

Based in North Carolina, Erin McLean Events specialize in the detailed planning and flawless execution of weddings. With a love of working with fun brides, Erin strives to give her brides a wedding beyond their dreams. Her services are available to clients throughout North Carolina including Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill, and beyond.

Contact
Erin McLean

6308 Angus Drive, Suite B
Raleigh, NC 27617
Tel: 919.740.3824
Web: <http://www.erinmcleanevents.com>

Contact Information

For more information contact Erin McLean of Erin McLean Events
(<http://www.erinmcleanevents.com>)
919.740.3824

Keywords

wedding planner
Erin McLean Events
wedding day

You can read this press release online here