

Lloret de Mar Hosts a Long Week of Soul Between 17 and 24 September 2011

DirectRooms.com announces that fans of soul music will love a special week of classics being played for a unique party in Lloret de Mar this September.

August 3, 2011 (FPRC) -- The Med Soul Week will feature seven days of parties and soul themed nights. A team of 30 DJs will be bringing the music to the hundreds of partygoers that are set to attend from all over Europe. Music on the dance floor will be a mixture of RnB, Jazz, Soulful House, Club Classics and Funk as well as the best in modern Soul.

The event will take place from 17th to 24th September or people can opt for a shorter break with an option for a long weekend until 21st September 2011. During the day visitors can hang out in the beach bar and sip on selection of huge iced cocktails as temperatures in the area are still expected to be around 28°C.

The evenings then move onto Bumpers Night Club which combines a tropical garden indoors and is the perfect setting for listening to the music. The dance floors are also due to be filled with stag and hen parties as the crowds take over the coast.

Lek Boonlert, marketing head at DirectRooms.com commented: 'The number of people that are set to come along to this festival of soul means that hotels in Lloret de Mar are going to be fully booked months in advance. Visitors will need check online to enquire about reservations and then book as early as possible.'
