

Leading Golf Competition Brings Hundreds to Vanuatu's Port Vila during 16 to 21 August 2011

Vanuatu, the picturesque south pacific island home to perfect beaches and beautiful clear waters, is this summer set to host one of the local region's major golfing events.

August 4, 2011 (FPRC) -- 16th August to 21st August this year will see Vanuatu play home to the 2011 Tusker Vanuatu Golf Open, which will mean hundreds of additional visitors being in town for the fun. The event's timing has led online hotel room comparator DirectRooms.com to warn that the choice of hotel Port Vila has available will be limited.

Port Vila is the capital of the island of Vanuatu and as such its busiest destination. Locals from around the region regularly take their holidays in Port Vila and with many golfers and their families in town too it will be busier than usual.

The 2011 Tusker Vanuatu Golf Open welcomes both professional and amateur level golfers to test themselves against the links course, and offers pretty big prize money too - the men's champion this year can win as much as $50,000 AUS and there are prizes for the other competitions on offer too.

The balmy climate and coastal breeze on Vanuatu make it a perfect destination for golf fans, while players' families can relax and enjoy the other delights the island has to offer nice beaches and many different activity sports too.

Lek Boonlert, marketing head at DirectRooms.com says: 'Vanuatu is likely to be busier than ever this August, particularly with such a big golf event in town. So we're advising people to be smart about their accommodation and compare deals before booking online to avoid missing out.'
