

Golfers and Fans Alike Head for Vilamoura This September for Charity Golf Spectacular

DirectRooms.com can reveal that this September the RMHC Leisure Classic golf tournament will be heading for Vilamoura and bringing with it hundreds of extra visitors, attendees and players.

August 5, 2011 (FPRC) -- The golf courses of Portugal have long been recognised as some of very good in Europe, particularly with those golf enthusiasts who insist on playing in warm weather. Sponsored by fast food giant McDonald's, the RHMC Leisure Classic attracts players and aficionados from across the continent who appreciate the finer things in golf and who want to give a little back in the form of a charity event.

The venue for the event is the Hotel Vilamoura Cascata Resort, one of the premium places to stay in the region. From 18th September to 21st September are the dates of the classic tournament and for those who want to enjoy the fun but whose budgets maybe don't stretch to the Cascade Resort, there are other cheap Vilamoura hotels available nearby.

The RMHC in the names of the competition refers to the Ronald McDonald House Charities, and players entering the tournament can rest assured that they are doing their bit for some great causes - in addition to having fun!

Lek Boonlert, marketing head at DirectRooms.com comments: 'Portugal's golf courses are regularly busy in September each year thanks to the region's great climate for the sport. There are some great courses to play as well and this tournament is particularly popular thanks to it supporting so many great causes with its proceeds.'
