Spread-Betting.org has released a series of brand new daily market analysis reports

August 22, 2011 (FPRC) -- The financial spread betting website Spread-Betting.org has released a series of brand new trading sections. The daily spread betting Market Analysis reports cover the latest market moves from across the globe.

Spread-Betting.org is a financial trading website that focuses on the derivative of spread betting (also commonly referred to as spread trading). The website hosts a broad range of information to assist traders spread betting on a variety of markets.

The website includes a spread betting blog, a section on spread betting offers, a range of spread betting guides, a technical analysis section and broker reviews of firms such as FXCM.

The introduction of the daily Market Analysis reports is part of ongoing improvements to the site, said Spread-Betting.org editor Maxine Price, "Due to the initial success of the website, we've decided to expand the site and introduce a range of new content.

"We've recently introduced a new technical analysis section, and we believe that the combination of these two new sections will significantly improve our service."

The new reports on www.Spread-Betting.org, which are updated daily, review five key areas including index spread betting, forex spread betting and commodities spread betting with a further in-depth look at crude oil and gold. The daily reports are designed to assist traders who are speculating in a specific area. However Price said that the various sections were designed so that they would aid traders who are speculating on multiple markets too.

"We understand that one of the main draws of financial spread betting is the fact that traders can speculate across a myriad of markets. However, at the same time, there are a lot of traders who specialise in a single market.

"Our philosophy is to assist all types of spread bettor; regardless of their experience or chosen market. Consequently, we split the daily reviews into five areas in order to allow traders to focus on their chosen area. However we also ensured that there was a certain consistency across the pages in order to allow traders to flick between the sections and keep up-to-date with multiple markets."
