

Mfest to Take Place in Sydney on 9 October 2011

The MFest – also known as Malaysia Fest – is an event that takes place annually and is organised by the Malaysian students in Sydney.

September 14, 2011 (FPRC) -- This is a community event and is a cultural festival that is staged at Tumbalong Park in the Darling Harbour area. This is intended to raise awareness about the Malaysian culture and the stalls and exhibitors include food stalls and cultural performances of music and dance. Large crowds are expected to attend the event on 9th October, the 21st year of the event.

The venue is centrally located and is easy to reach by public transport but is within walking distance for those who are in the city centre area.

Lek Boonlert, who is the Head of Marketing for DirectRooms.com offered this advice for travellers 'Sydney is an already busy city, one of the busiest in the world. During times when there are large events such as this, the city sees a greater number of people filling its hotels and other accommodation. By booking your Sydney city centre hotels well in advance of travelling you can be sure of having a place to stay once you arrive in the area. Failure to plan in advance may only lead to disappointment.'

Public transport in and around Sydney is excellent. This means that most hotel accommodation is easily accessible from the venue and there is no need to stay in the heart of the action. Staying further away also means that visitors can enjoy a little more sightseeing of the area during their stay.
