

Clean Financial includes FinancialSpreads.com in its Spread Betting Comparison

CleanFinancial has added spread betting company Financial Spreads to its comparison tables.

September 30, 2011 (FPRC) -- Financial trading website CleanFinancial has added UK spread betting firm Financial Spreads to its comparison tables.

CleanFinancial.com is a website that focuses on the derivative of financial spread betting and compares a range of spread betting companies, listing their spread size and minimum stake on numerous global markets.

These markets include stock market indices such as the FTSE 100 and the Dow Jones, commodities such as crude oil and gold, forex pairs such as EUR/USD and GBP/JPY as well as treasuries such as government bonds and interest rates.

Jenna Cutly, editor at CleanFinancial.com, says that adding Financial Spreads to the site's comparison tables ensures that <http://www.cleanfinancial.com/> remains one of the most comprehensive sites on the internet for anyone looking to financial spread bet.

"We always aim to assist spread bettors in every way we can. One of the areas of our site that our visitors find most useful is our spread betting comparison tables.

"Naturally, having more companies in these tables makes them that much more valuable for spread traders who visit our site. That is why we thought it was important to add Financial Spreads to our tables; we've just made one of the most popular parts of our site that much better."

The spread betting comparison tables contain a range of information including which spread betting companies offer tight spreads, and which markets they offer. When an investor is speculating via spread betting, smaller spreads are beneficial as the tighter the spread, the less the market has to move before a trade becomes profitable. Of course, even with the tightest spreads, profits are not guaranteed.

"Financial Spreads offers some of the tightest spreads in the markets," Cutly continued, "so we are delighted to be featuring them on our site. However this won't be the last improvement we'll make to Clean Financial; we're always listening to our visitors and on the lookout for ways to improve our site."

Spread betting differs from regular trading in that you can make a profit on both a rising and a falling market; spread betting lets you speculate both ways.

Spread betting is a leveraged product, it carries a high level of risk to your capital and can result in losses that exceed your initial deposit. It might not be suitable for all classes of investor. Always ensure that you only spread bet with capital that you can afford to lose. Before trading, ensure you fully appreciate the risks that are involved and seek independent financial advice where appropriate.
