

ArtSec Group Secure New Office Space to Better Serve its Clients

The ArtSec Group will move its corporate headquarters to new office space in Arlington, Texas.

October 13, 2011 (FPRC) -- ArtSec Group, an international technology, media and trading company, has announced it will move its corporate office to Suite 200, 3901 Arlington Highlands Blvd, Arlington, Texas - effective immediately. The new offices will allow the ArtSec Group to further concentrate on its core business while offering better services and infrastructure to its clients.

As an expanding business ArtSec needs high quality office space to offer the level of services its clients have come to expect. Both its Information Security Division and its Media & Publishing Division will work out of the new office space.

“Moving to new offices will help improve the services we can offer to our clients” said a spokesman for ArtSec. “As a technology and media services company, the new offices will allow us to better serve the Dallas-Fort Worth area, as well as our international customers.”

The ArtSec Information Security Division offers a broad range of information security services and solutions including consultation, auditing, penetration testing and training. As well as working with international clients, ArtSec also provides local information technology and information security services in the Dallas-Fort Worth area (including Dallas, Fort Worth, Arlington, Plano, Addison and Mansfield).

ArtSec Group’s Media & Publishing Division offers a diverse range of design, editing and content creation services for books, public relations, online publishing and web sites.
