

Locate Jobs Network Adds Medical Imaging Job Board

Targeting the health care and allied health fields, Locate Jobs Network has launched the latest of its niche job boards, focusing on medical imaging.

October 31, 2011 (FPRC) -- Locate Jobs Network, a nationwide network of niche job boards, has launched the latest of its highly-targeted job search and recruiting websites. The new job board, Medical Imaging Jobs will focus on providing employers and recruiters with a targeted recruiting resource by offering fee-based job posting services as well as a monthly job posting subscription service that allows unlimited monthly job posts for a set fee. For qualified candidates in the field of medical imaging, the site will feature regularly-updated medical imaging employment opportunities and allow job seekers to connect directly with employers and recruiters.

Noted Michael Wist, the company's Director of Operations, "Obviously, medical imaging is not a new technology, but what we've found is that growth in this allied health field has been astronomical as physicians and health care institutions continue to rely more heavily on these diagnostic tools." The company's proximity to some of the most prestigious hospitals and health care institutions in the world also factors into the company's decision to launch the new health care-related job board. Located in Ellicott City, Maryland, Locate Jobs Network is a short distance from Johns Hopkins Hospital as well as the University of Maryland Medical System and a host of other noteworthy institutions in the field.

Says Matthew Blevins, the company's Director of Marketing, "We'll continue to develop job boards that focus on particular specialties within the overall health care and allied health fields. With an aging population and such an intense focus on the provision of health care in the U.S., this is one area in particular where the need for qualified personnel is striking. It is our intention to continue to develop our health care job boards to help employers and recruiters meet this need." The newly-launched medical imaging job board will feature job listings that run the gamut of the field, including radiology, nuclear medicine, endoscopy, medical thermography and microscopy. Positions for CT scan techs, radiologists, X-ray techs and many others will regularly be added to the site, making it not just a recruiting tool for those seeking to hire qualified employees, but a resource for those conducting job searches.

Locate Jobs Network

The Locate Jobs Network is an ever-growing network of highly targeted niche job boards, providing employers, recruiters and recruitment advertising agencies with a powerful tool for organic inbound recruiting. Each niche job board in the network is focused on a specific job title, industry or geographic region. The company's innovative cross-posting functionality offers clients unlimited flexibility and scalability in their niche recruiting efforts. The Locate Jobs Network is committed to diversity hiring and works directly with the world's leading employers and recruitment agencies to fill open positions across all industries and niche employment fields.

Contact Information

For more information contact Matt Blevins of Locate Jobs network
(<http://www.locatejobsnetwork.com>)
8882191776

Keywords

medical imaging jobs

healthcare job boards

job boards

You can read this press release online here