

Charity Ball at Lake District Hotel Raises Almost £3000

'Black and White Charity Ball' hosted by Lake District Hotel Ltd raises over £2900 for charity.

October 31, 2011 (FPRC) -- Guests at the Lodore Falls Hotel 'Black and White Charity Ball' followed the black and white dress code and dined on black and white food at the event which raised over £2,900 in aid of Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research.

Head Chef Mike Ward created a colourful black and white themed menu which included Halibut served on Black Squid Ink Tagliatelle and a dessert called Ebony and Ivory - white and dark chocolate mouse with a duo of chocolate sauces.

As well as music and dance, there were casino tables and a charity auction and raffle which included breaks at the hotel, the Selkirk Arms in Scotland and a tour of the M-Sport factory at Dovenby.

Tanya Sentance, Sales Manager at the Lodore Falls Hotel part of the Lake District Hotel Ltd group said "It was fun to dress the Garden Suite in such a dramatic way. We had black and white candles and table décor; people really go into the spirit of the theme. Everyone was very generous, the atmosphere was fantastic and we were thrilled to raise so much for Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research – it is such a worthwhile cause and one close to our hearts because our General Manager Stephen Johnson, lost his bother to the terrible disease earlier this year."

Charity events are becoming a regular fixtures on the calendars of the six hotels in the Lake District Hotels Ltd group. With their excellent attention to detail and stunning settings, their hotels are the perfect locations for supporting such worthwhile causes as Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research, Keswick Mountain Rescue and North West Air Ambulance.
