

File-download.net Website Update

File-download.net, offering file hosting, download, and registration services, has been updated to include new site design, and product pages.

November 7, 2011 (FPRC) -- The website File-download.net has been updated thoroughly. The website caters to the needs for file hosting, download, and purchase using any third party trusted payment processor. The back end enables software registration services, so that users may register their software with the server and use.

The new features include the following:

1. Revised navigation menu. The side navigation buttons have been revised to reflect the new entries, and tested..
2. Sub-domains: The website has two sections, one for exam simulators and another for network simulators. Visitors will be able to seamlessly download and buy any product without leaving the site.
3. Revised Product Pages: Product pages have been revised for CCNA, CCNP Route, Switch, and Tshoot. The certification information along with the product download links have been provided.
4. Web page template: The website now has a new template enabling easy navigation and user friendly design.

The website is broadly divided into five sections, namely, CompTIA, Cisco, Microsoft, CheckPoint, and Oracle. Each section displays the constituent certs and available downloads. Network simulators site consists of Cisco and Juniper network simulators. New sections are added as and when required. The website has been checked for compliance with major Internet browsers including Internet Explorer, Mozilla FireFox, Opera, and Google Chrome.
