

Grant Potter Wins The 2011 Florida State Road Race Masters Championship on a Stradalli Palermo Carbon Road Bike

Grant Potter dominated the field to take the 2011 Florida State Road Race Masters Championship on his Stradalli Palermo carbon road bike.

November 10, 2011 (FPRC) -- Miami, Florida - Stradalli Cycle, the high performance carbon bicycle manufacturer, would like to congratulate Grant Potter for his convincing win at the 2011 Florida State Road Race Masters Championship on a Stradalli Palermo carbon road bike. Earlier this year, Grant won the 2011 World Cup championships on the same Stradalli Palermo and his win in Martin County, Clermont, Florida further demonstrates the success Grant is enjoying on his Stradalli.

The 63 mile long Florida State Road Race is the latest win which Grant adds to his already impressive resume. Grant was the 2010 and 2011 World Cup champion and the 2009 US national champion.

“We are very glad our bike is working so well for Grant Potter,” said Thomas Steinbacher of Stradalli. “Stradalli’s lightweight bikes are just what athletes, like Grant, need to get them to the finish line first.”

As well as the bike, Grant puts his win down to the training he did at Mt. Dora before the race. Grant owns and operates a cycling training camp at Mt. Dora Florida where he frequently trains other riders who are looking to get the best performance out of their bodies and their machines.
