

Forex Signals Business Wins Renowned Currency Trading Honor for the 4th Consecutive Month in the Face of European Debt Turmoil.

Forex signals supplier, Forex Live Online, received the BarclayHedge 'Recognition Award For Excellence' in September for ranking in the top 10 results for currency traders. The September award brings the aggregate quantity of awards in 2011 for Forex Live Online to 8. Their results have been awarded during one of the most challenging financial periods, the European debt crisis and currency traders suffering their worst year since 1991.

November 15, 2011 (FPRC) -- Forex signals supplier, Forex Live Online, received the BarclayHedge 'Recognition Award For Excellence' in September for ranking in the top 10 results for currency traders. The honor was presented in November. This makes the 4th consecutive month Forex Live Online has won this honor including 1st and 2nd rank in June and August respectively. They also ranked number 6 for 'Top Performing CTA', ranked by compound annual return, 1 year ending June 2011. The September award brings the aggregate quantity of awards in 2011 for Forex Live Online to 8.

'This is a fantastic result for our company and our forex signals and managed forex accounts subscribers, especially during the current European debt crisis, which is creating global turmoil.' Said Brad Stoyel, founder and CEO of Forex Live Online.

'Our aim is to provide consistent returns during all market conditions and this current crisis is certainly presenting challenging times. First we had Greece, now Italy and potentially a domino effect to many other European nations. ' Mr Stoyel said

'Unfortunately, the problem is not contained within Europe and has a flow on effect to other World currencies. Fortunately, we have designed multiple robust to encounter all perceivable market conditions, which is in my opinion, why we are producing such consistent results'

Brad Stoyel, CEO of Forex Live Online, attributes their success and reliability of returns to numerous sturdy systems to supply forex signals to their subscribers. Their strategies have been designed to cover all diverse kinds of market environments.

Forex Live Online's results are also contrary to the existing trend of results as currency traders are suffering their worst year since 1991. Three out of four Royal Bank of Scotland Group Plc indexes of foreign-exchange trading strategies are losing this year, including a 2.7 percent dive through September for its carry trade index. Deutsche Bank AG's dollar-denominated Currency Returns Index has plunged 3.4 percent, the biggest fall since a 4 percent slide in 1991. The Stark Currency Traders Index and the Barclay Currency Traders Index have declined by 8.6 percent and 0.4 percent.
