Gebbie Press, publisher of the All-In-One Media Directory, now offers media contact lists for individual US states

January 10, 2012 (FPRC) -- Gebbie Press, publisher of the All-In-One Media Directory, now offers media contact lists for individual US states. The media outlets include daily and weekly newspapers and radio and TV stations. Since 1955, Gebbie Press has been known for providing accurate media information at the lowest prices within the PR industry. No other major reputable media directory publishers sell such small portions of data at the price Gebbie Press does. Of course, complete national media lists including daily and weekly newspapers, radio and TV stations and trade and consumer magazines are also available.

State media contact lists are ideal for state government agencies, chambers of commerce, charitable organizations, non-profits, regional service companies and any firm or person who provides services primarily in one geographic location. The media contact details include phone, fax, mailing address, website and the email address appropriate for sending news, PR or press releases. Other specifics such as radio station formats, TV network affiliation, and circulation figures for newspaper are given.

The data is purchased online and downloaded immediately after payment is made and comes in both Excel and comma delimited formats. Sample data files are available before purchasing so that the user can see exactly what information is provided. Gebbie Press also offers valuable advice regarding the writing and distribution of press releases at their website.

Gebbie Press has published affordable and accurate media contact directories for more than 50 years. We list all US print & broadcast media and offer a compact print version, electronic versions on CD as well as PRPro - a turnkey online application. Please see <http://gebbieinc.com>
