

Lille Confirms for the Show of Arctic Monkeys in Concert on 1 February 2012

Having first hit the charts in 2005, the Arctic Monkeys now return with their fourth album, 'Suck It'. Their current tour, DirectRooms.com confirms, will see them perform in Lille, in Northern France, on 1st February 2012.

January 15, 2012 (FPRC) -- The concert is part of their tour, which is intended to promote their latest album and the band will be playing tracks from it during the concert. The Arctic Monkeys are regarded as being in the Indie-Rock genre of popular music.

Their first single, 'I Bet That You Look Good on the Dancefloor' was released in 2005 and shot the then little known band into the limelight within a matter of months. Called the 'Brit Pop of the internet generation', their first album sold over a million copies, faster than any previous UK debut album and the following two albums have also done well. Their fourth album was released in June 2011. Some of the group's success is no doubt due to the fact that the free demos they handed out at gigs ended up circulating on the internet for free; they are definitely children of the new, internet-focussed generation.

The lyrical content of the Arctic Monkey's songs have seen them compared to the likes of Morrissey and Jarvis Crocker, famed for singing about daily life in the UK. The band is made up of four members; Alex Turner, Jamie Cook, Andy Nicolson and Matt Helders, all of whom are from Sheffield. They came together as a band for the first time in 2002 and played their first gig in 2003.

The concert in Lille takes place on 1st February 2012, in the Zénith arena, in the city centre. Tickets cost €32.50 and the event begins at 8pm and is expected to last for around two hours.

Anyone attending the concert will find a convenient Lille hotel close to the venue.
