It's called the Edward Palonek Scholarship. It's $250 and it goes directly to the student and you do not need high grade scores to qualify. You just need to write a brief reason on why you deserve the scholarship. Pretty easy and quick. This scholarship is open any 18 years of age or older full time or part time student of an accredited college, university or trade school in the United States.

January 17, 2012 (FPRC) -- It's never too late to help with school costs. Mr. Edward Palonek has recently launched a new Scholarship Giveaway where two lucky students will get $250 directly, in January 2012 to help with some of the school expenses which can be found at epalonek.org.

The Edward Palonek Scholarship is open any 18 years of age or older full time or part time student of an accredited college, university or trade school in the United States. We currently have two Scholarships to giveaway for the month of January 2012 and more to follow in other months.

It's very easy to register "all a student has to do is write a brief essay on why they deserve the Scholarship", says Palonek. There is no application fee whatsoever and you don't even have to be at the top of your class to qualify for this scholarship.

According to Edward Palonek, "one of the best features of this Scholarship is that the $250 goes directly to the Student...they can use the Scholarship to pay for books, pay part of their student loan or any other related school expense".

The deadline to register is fast approaching. The January deadline is January 22nd 2012 and the winners of the Scholarship will be announced later in the month.

Students are always looking for a few extra dollars during the school year. Rather than having to work at a part time job, which takes a student away from their studies the Edward Palonek Scholarship can mean a short break from work while at the same time help with some school expenses.
