

Goldmine CRM Consultant Launches Goldmine Blog on Website

Business Automation Systems, Inc., a certified GoldMine CRM consultant and trainer, has added a GoldMine blog to their corporate website, www.moreproductive.com, to educate customers on trends in CRM and help them maximize their use of GoldMine sales software.

January 30, 2012 (FPRC) -- GLENVIEW, IL—Business Automation Solutions, Inc., a certified GoldMine CRM consultant and trainer, has celebrated the New Year by adding a GoldMine blog to educate customers on trends in CRM and help them maximize their use of GoldMine sales software, their new corporate website at www.moreproductive.com.

“As a partner and certified GoldMine consultant and trainer, our job is to educate customers about the benefits of GoldMine sales software,” said Pamela S. Pearl, Certified GoldMine Consultant and Partner with Business Automation Solutions, Inc., <http://moreproductive.com>. “The blog is yet another tool we offer to educate customers about the power of GoldMine. The beginning of 2012 seemed the perfect time to unveil it.”

The blog will offer posts in several categories: news of Business Automation Solutions, GoldMine CRM Consulting, GoldMine support, GoldMine Training and CRM generally. The blog will serve as a ready source for valuable tips and tricks on using GoldMine sales software and will also offer valuable content about Goldmine pricing, and current trends and developments in GoldMine CRM.

BAS’s improved corporate website was launched in early October and includes information on GoldMine Sales Software and access to their GoldMine training tools, including live training webinars with online registration.
