

Sand Creek film focus for Native American Government Employees

The award-winning Sand Creek Massacre film to be presented SAIGE in June.

May 14, 2008 (FPRC) -- Centennial, CO -- Dr. C. Smiley-Marquez & Co., Ltd., a bilingual (Spanish-English) & Multicultural Services Company, will present a program, "Historic Trauma: Conflict Intervention & Native Americans", for the SAIGE (Society of American Indian Government Employees) on June 4, 2008. The program will take place at the Grand Traverse Resort in Acme, Michigan. Dr. Marquez will use the award-winning documentary film, "The Sand Creek Massacre" in her presentation.

Award-winning writer/filmmaker Donald L. Vasicek, the writer/director/producer of the film, commends Dr. Smiley-Marquez for her work. "Education is a key ingredient for successful application in dealing with traumatic events such as the Sand Creek Massacre which happened on November 29, 1864 in the Colorado Territory. It is a remarkable example of how human beings carry the trauma of their ancestors with them."

Dr. Smiley-Marquez's educational program, "It's All In Your Head! Care and Feeding of Your Brain", engages participants in assessing their own brain health and provides practical tools for improving, healing and keeping the brain healthy for life. Dr. Smiley-Marquez also provides professional services nationwide and has a psychotherapeutic practice in Boulder County, Colorado.
