

Seven Snaps iPhone Photography Contest 2009

An international iPhone photography contest, from October 8th till December 18th 2009. Our aim is to promote mobile photography in a snap culture-based society.

October 12, 2009 (FPRC) -- Amsterdam. The Netherlands. An international iPhone photography contest, from October 8th till December 18th 2009.

seven snaps tell a story
seven snaps teach a lesson seven snaps make us laugh
seven snaps unravel a secret seven snaps show your talent

What do your seven snaps reveal?

Seven Snaps is all about a daily lifestyle: capturing the world with our mobile phone. Seven Snaps challenges you to be creative and share the fun of telling a story in a sequence of seven images. To connect space, language, culture, expressions and visualization and freeze it in seven snaps.

Our aim is to promote mobile photography in a snap culture-based society. And make it a fun and active way of connecting people through shared interests. We cooperate with the promising dutch company Mobypicture, a distributor of mobile pictures to social media platforms. Grab your iPhone and share your seven snaps with the world!

The most funny, touching and amazing seven snaps will be selected around Christmas by an international jury of diverse creative backgrounds including the writer Paulo Coelho, composer Max Richter and sculptor Jason de Caires Taylor. The winning entries will be rewarded and will be published in a book and exposed in a public environment.

Be creative and enjoy!

www.sevensnaps.com

For more information you can contact Annet de Graaf + 31 6 24306438 or email: info@droombos.nl

Contact Information

For more information contact Annet de Graaf of Droombos Design (<http://www.droombos.nl>)
+31 6 24306438

Keywords

photography
iphone
contest

You can read this press release online here