Ambience Productions announces a call to all photographers to enter the third annual photography contest: The Ambience Photography Contest 2010. The contest is run online and attracts entries in all categories from photographers around the globe.

February 28, 2010 (FPRC) -- International - Ambience Productions announces a call to all photographers to enter the third annual photography contest: The Ambience Photography Contest 2010. The contest is run online and attracts entries in all categories from photographers around the globe.

Ambience Productions is dedicated to promoting creative talent on a global scale. Through our website and contests we showcase some of this talent and introduce the world to new and emerging artists, photographers and writers.

The Ambience Photography Contest 2010 is open to all categories of photography. Amateur and professional photographers are all welcome, as too are entrants from all countries. Post processing and image manipulation in software is also allowed in this year's competition.

The contest will be judged by Ambience Productions. We have experienced photographers on board and no preference will be given to a particular category of photography. Our judges produce a diverse variety of photography themselves and are keen to view all types of images.

Winners receive great prize money – more than our previous contests - as well as a downloadable certificate to commemorate your win! The winning entries and photographer's profiles will be published on our site.

For the first time the prize money is topping the thousand dollar mark and will be allocated for the 5 prize winners. First prize is $500, second prize is $250, third prize is $200, fourth prize is $150 and fifth prize is $100.
