

FXOpen Introduces No Commission Deposit Incentive for Summer 2013

FXOpen, one of the leading brokers in Forex, is holding a summer-long promotional campaign. No commission will be charged for deposits made to FXOpen accounts from June 1st till August 31st 2013.

June 5, 2013 (FPRC) -- "This summer FXOpen has undertaken to cover the whole size of deposit commissions that normally range within 0.5 – 6% per transaction," commented Denis Peganov, Director of FXOpen NZ Limited.

Under the promotion terms, commission won't be charged for deposits, made by credit/debit cards, as well as those, processed by online payment systems currently available with FXOpen.

"It's a perfect incentive for Forex traders to enlarge their deposits during the summer period," continues Denis Peganov. "We believe it could help newbies make their first profit, while experienced traders could earn more by transacting without any fees."

FXOpen has recently introduced new deposit/withdrawal options to the list of payment processors offered by the company. "FXOpen customers may choose any variant to meet their requirements," says Director of FXOpen NZ Limited.

"There is a wide range of reliable payment systems at their disposal such as Payza, Skrill (former Moneybookers), WebMoney, Elecsnet, Yandex.Money, QiWI Wallet, Dengi Online, Dixipay and others."

Registration in the promotional campaign is not required. It is available for all FXOpen clients.

FXOpen was originally founded as an analytical center for educational purposes in 2003. It gradually grew into a brokerage organization to keep pace with the new tendencies in the market. The company soon improved its services and came up with absolutely unique products and solutions.

In 2009, FXOpen introduced the innovative MT4 ECN (Electronic Communications Network), providing an access to the ECN market via the traditional MetaTrader platform. Since then its customers have got an opportunity to enjoy an elaborate Partnership program, advanced PAMM accounts, the lowest Mark-up and spreads from 0 pips.

"Our main objective – create friendly and comfortable environment for profitable trading," said Denis Peganov. "This offer is the way to say thank you for your trust and high hopes put on us."
