

The Alcazar Hotel Completes Remodeling to Offer a Boutique Hotel experience In Nicaragua

The Alcazar Hotel is a premier destination beside the ocean in Nicaragua's San Juan del Sur, and offers the ultimate in comfort and at a price that surprises their visitors.

San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua February 11, 2014 (FPRC) -- Nicaragua is sandwiched between the Caribbean Sea and the Pacific Ocean, and tourism is the country's second largest industry, with 60,000 Americans alone visiting the country every year. The country has found a niche thanks to its amazing beaches, scenic routes, architecture and as a hub for ecotourism. The Alcazar Hotel in San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua is one of the finest in the country, as a boutique luxury venue with an ocean view, with rooms that walk out on to the beach. The hotel has recently finished remodeling to offer even greater comfort and style at surprising prices.

Hotel Alcazar TripAdvisor Reviews are already overwhelmingly positive, with thirty out of the forty five reviews rating the hotel excellent, and a further ten rating it very good. Visitors testify that the view, the facilities and the décor all run at a much higher premium than the price would predict.

The website (<http://hotelalcazarnicaragua.com>) describes the rooms as mini-suites, for each is spacious and comes with its own private bathroom, queen size beds, private balconies, swimming pool access and twenty four hour security. The website also includes a gallery of San Juan Del Sur, to fire the imagination for the holiday to come.

A spokesperson for The Alcazar Hotel explained, "Nicaragua is becoming a more popular destination every year, and the more people who find out about the wonders of our beautiful country, the more wish to experience it for themselves. Our hotel provides a beautiful, ocean facing way to enjoy the beauty of one of Nicaragua's finest beaches for an affordable price, and is proximate to the local market, historical church, hospital, police station and the bus and taxi station which is a passport to the rest of the country. There really is no better base from which to explore all Nicaragua has to offer, or simply relax beachside for the duration of your stay."
