Dr. David Mruz of Eastside Chiropractic in Greenville, SC is proud to have been named the official team chiropractic physician for the Hincapie Development Cycling team for the 2013-2014 season. April 24, 2014 /MM-prReach/ -- Dr. David Mruz of Eastside Chiropractic in Greenville, SC is proud to have been named the official team chiropractic physician for the Hincapie Development Cycling team for the 2013-2014 season. Dr. Mruz has experience with sports medicine, working with professional cyclists for 23 years. For the Hincapie Development Cycling team, his chiropractic skills are employed to optimize each team member's power output, in addition to the management of minor musculo-skeletal injuries and problems associated with physical stress that elite cyclists endure. Dr. Mruz works with Dr. Rick Morgan from GHS's Steadman Hawkins Sports Medicine group. Dr. Morgan specializes in the treatment of significant sports injuries for team which may occur during the long cycling season.

Greenville is known as a mecca for outdoor sports and as such makes an ideal home for the Hincapie Development Cycling team. They recently returned victorious from the Redlands Cycling Classic, a major stage race in California. Dr. Mruz is happy to keep these outstanding young bicyclists running in peak condition. He says, "The team wasted no time making an impression. The first day of racing was won by Dion Smith in an exciting uphill finish with a perfect lead-out by team members. Ty Magner added even more Hincapie fireworks by finishing 2nd in a sprint finish on stage 3, and Joey Roskopf won the final stage of the Redlands Classic, along with the general classification win by finishing the 5 days of racing with the quickest overall time."

Dr. Mruz works with elite cyclists both on a regional basis and internationally. Cycling performance is closely connected to the success of the relationship between a cycling team's physicians and the team members. A longtime chiropractor and proponent of advancements in the field, Dr. Mruz is recognized as the developer of an ergonomic protocol that maximizes power, comfort and safety for athletes who are serious about performance and prepared to drive themselves physically with the assistance of a qualified medical professional at their side.
