May, June, July and August broadcasts of the small cap stocks to buy, stock market news and where to invest now Money Info Show produced by Princeton Research, Inc. have had a series of live interviews with executives from a small cap biopharmaceutical medical stock company that is developing innovative first-in-class pharmaceuticals including a radiation countermeasure and a potential cancer treatment lead product.

The company featured on past Money Info Shows recently had significant upward stock price movement. The investment profit gains were the result of a positive FDA opinion issued for their lead product, a cancer treatment and radiation countermeasure drug.

The small cap medical stock reported that its existing safety and efficacy data and animal-to-human dose conversion are enough to proceed with a pre-Emergency Use Authorization submission to the FDA for the use of their drug to reduce the risk of death following radiation exposure.
