

Britain's Bridging Loans Experts Announce Exclusive Loan Calculator

Bridgingloans.co.uk Confirms Details of a Unique Calculator for UK Bridging Loan Applicants

January 29, 2015 (FPRC) -- A leading UK force in bridging loan guidance and brokerage is delighted to confirm the launch of a real-time bridging loan calculator. Furthering the already excellent service package offered by Bridgingloans.co.uk, the new calculator has been designed to offer immediate and accurate information on the costs and charges associated with bridging loans.

As a wholly independent financial service provider with no ties to any specific third-parties, Bridgingloans.co.uk takes great pride in offering impartial and honest advice to its clients. Now with the bridging loans calculator up and running, it's never been easier for anyone interested in a bridging loan to find out all the important financial details and costs.

Simple, Reliable and Instant

"We're proud to introduce our real-time calculator, giving accurate loan amount and repayment costs over the time period you select. Simply enter the loan amount and term (1 to 12 months etc.), the broker's fee (if applicable), any outstanding loans/mortgages and current property value. The calculator will then automatically calculate an example of the interest rate chargeable to the applicant and gives a month by month breakdown of the repayment charges, along with the overall repayment figure taking into account all fees and interest payable." – Bridgingloans.co.uk

Investigating the costs of bridging finance has traditionally been a rather drawn-out process. The information needed to make an informed decision – interest rates, total amount to repay etc. – required lengthy applications and often in-person advisory meetings.

With the new bridging loans calculator however, it's as simple as entering a few key details and all the necessary figures are returned in an instant and as the Bridgingloans.co.uk calculator works in real time and regularly updated, you can rest assured the information displayed is as current and accurate as can be.

A Single, Reliable Point of Contact

"As we are constantly involved in the volume administering of bridging loans we know what each of our individual lenders require to enable a case to be sourced, processed and completed in the quickest possible timeframe. Each case until complete is regularly and systematically reviewed by our highly qualified internal administration team and dedicated case handler. At the very least progression on each and every case is reviewed and actioned formally, twice per day. You will have one contact point at the company who will be responsible for and will own all aspects of your case from start to finish." – Bridgingloans.co.uk

Bridgingloans.co.uk was established to serve as a single, comprehensive resource for any UK borrower interested in bridging loans and property development finance. Used appropriately, such loans can be unique, accessible, affordable and simple, while at the same time ensuring a golden opportunity that need never be missed just because of a temporary financial shortfall.

Much of the UK is still to catch up on the improving benefits that bridging loans offer. Bridgingloans.co.uk is helping to push these benefits out to the industry as a whole.
