

Straight Talking Promo Codes Releases 20 Brand New Promotional Offers On Phones and Services

Straight Talking Promo Codes has published an amazing twenty new offers designed to help anyone looking for any phone on a Straight Talk plan save money as they purchase.

San Francisco, CA, February 27, 2015 (FPRC) -- Straight Talk pride themselves as the most affordable cell phone mobile and data provider in the US, and they offer this great value for money without sacrificing the quality of the signal coverage or the kind of phones users can enjoy. This makes them a favorite amongst bargain hunters, for whom there is even better news. Straight Talking Promo Codes has now released an amazing twenty new offers to help people looking for just about any major smartphone to receive the phone while saving money on a Straight Talk mobile and data package.

The Straight Talk Promo Code collection includes offers on LG, iPhone 5, ZTE Midnight and Huawei phones, as well as money saving opportunities on their popular wireless and talk packages. The codes are all available for a limited time only, but all offer significant savings.

These promo codes are the latest in a long history for the site, but represent the biggest single offer harvest their researchers have been able to authenticate, making it one of the best times for people to consider switching their telecoms provider.

A spokesperson for Straight Talking Promo Codes explained, "Straight Talk are a great company and we believe in their products and services one hundred percent. As such, we want to ensure as many people as possible can benefit from those services, though we understand the price can prevent some from committing. That's why we make it our mission to provide these offers, to make what are already great deals irresistible. When taking advantage of any of the offers currently on the site, people are guaranteed a great deal. They only last so long however, so interested parties should redeem them now while they're available."
