

Park View Legal Reaches Major Milestone Improving Score By 222 Points

Park View Legal is a credit repair firm based on Wilshire Blvd, LA, focused on repairing all credit reports. This month marks a major milestone as client's score is raised over 220 points

March 26, 2015 (FPRC) -- It's no secret - the average American is still held back by their credit score. Whether it comes to getting an auto loan, a personal loan, a mortgage refinance or even your dream job, in a lot of cases your credit score can hang over you like a dark cloud. The credit repair industry has been around a long time, and despite it being possible to repair your own credit score, these companies have honed their efficiency at helping clients boost their credit scores down to a tee.

Few credit repair companies however can boast an improvement of 222 points on a client's credit report, which is the big news coming out of Park View Legal this week. A spokesperson at Park View Legal gave us a better insight into the situation;

"This particular client had a lot of issues with foreclosures, tax liens and also declared bankruptcy 3 years before getting in touch with us. We took on the case and gave the client an expected time frame of 5 months for us to complete the work to our high standards. In fact, we took their score from a 621 to a 843 in a matter of 12 weeks, which was a hugely proud moment for myself and my team".

The message from Park View Legal is that no matter how bad your credit situation is, there's always help available. In a huge amount of cases, an American consumer's credit score can be lowered by inaccurate information on the credit report - imagine being rejected for a mortgage simply because your name was spelled incorrectly!

Park View Legal offers complete visibility into the credit repair process, whilst taking all work away from the client. Another spokesman from the company mentioned "there is no reason why any individual in America couldn't repair their own credit. The only problem is that they need months of spare time to be able to contact credit bureaus, file disputes, and track their results. The reality is people don't have time for this, and that's where we come in!".
