

Localpeek.co.uk – New User-friendly Platform to Locate UK Businesses and Retailers Online

2016 sees the launch of an innovative new project in a form of a comprehensive online database which aims to facilitate the search for UK businesses and retailers online. Localpeek.co.uk is a post code oriented repository which enables the users to look up restaurants, schools, bank branches, pharmacies, medical practices and many other popular places by simply entering a post code of a particular area.

It is the first instinct of many people to use a popular online search engine to find information about almost anything. Google may be an all-time favourite browser used by millions of people worldwide, but unfortunately it is not omniscient. Besides, information found on random websites can turn out to be outdated and inaccurate. If you want to make sure you get only the most reliable contact details to a place you are looking for, it is recommended to use a trusted resource known to provide credible information. Localpeek.co.uk is an online database which collects and organizes knowledge about businesses and retailers located all around the UK.

In order to use the platform you just need to have the post code or the address. Use the post code and one of the shortcut thumbnails – food part, business part, medicine part, and education part – to locate businesses in the area of your liking. If you don't know the exact post code, you can also make use of website's functionalities by choosing the town, the parish, the ward, the district, or the town from a dropdown menu available on the home page. There is also an interactive map with icons to search for specific types of places. The platform shares information about the real estate value, it has accurate school rankings, and reliable restaurant ratings, which are the features strongly recommended for the people who plan to relocate. With Localpeek.co.uk you can have everything you need to build a profile of a particular district or area, without extensive research and unnecessary inquiries.

As a virtual tool, Localpeek.co.uk enables the users to search for facilities and amenities by using post codes, which is extremely useful to locate places in your area. Apart from that, the platform proves to be irreplaceable for travels, as it helps you find restaurants and local places of interest within a matter of minutes. Let's imagine you are travelling to London and you want to go on a shopping spree, yet you have no idea where to start. With the use of Localpeek.co.uk, you can quickly look up shops and boutiques located in a close proximity to your hotel.

Localpeek.co.uk was designed not only to speed up online search for retailers and businesses, but it also encourages you to look at your neighbourhood from a different perspective and start exploring it in a creative way, as the platform has a section dedicated to local landmarks. When was the last time you discovered something new in your district? Even for a day or two, feel like an explorer and find out interesting places in your neighbourhood with Localpeek.co.uk
