

Thermalabs Introduces New Snowflakes Beach T-Shirt

Thermalabs has launched a new Snowflakes beach T-shirt on Amazon.com

October 25, 2016 (FPRC) -- Thermalabs has introduced a new T-shirts barely a week after it launched its second beach product. Thermalabs is investing in its portfolio of beach related products and it seems to have drifted away from the self -tanning space. The new beach product is a big hit in the market since it's sold hundreds of units just a few days since it launched. Thermalabs is working on at least half a dozen beach chairs and a bed that are yet to hit the market.

Thermalabs is a major name brand in the cosmetics industry. The company opened its doors some three years ago having nothing more than a big goal and a huge achievable budget. The company was committed to helping fight cancer since most of Americans were diagnosed with this terminal illness. Thermalabs first launch was immensely successful. The product won several trending on Amazon .com and this further attracted the attention of the media outlets and popular industry blog which much-needed exposure for the company. Thermalabs dominated the e-commerce marketplace and the success of the various products helped lay a solid foundation for the company. Thermalabs first ever product was a big hit .Thermalabs has various sub-brands which include: Supremasea branch which takes care of the products that are based on Dead Sea mineral salts. Thermalabs organic health care products are strictly handmade and are designed from organic and natural ingredients.

The is in the recent time investing greatly in beach-related industry. Thermalabs has introduced 5 beach products without any tanning product being introduced in the same period. Thermalabs Tent World sub-brand first released the tent that was equipped with UV protection to serve as a hiding place after spending some fun time in the water. Thermalabs Mercury beach Tent had extra-comfy bottoms for kids. Thermalabs has said that more new beach T-shirts will be introduced in the market very soon. These new T-shirts are available to individual's customers through online marketplaces such as Amazon.com.

Thermalabs new t-shirt labeled 'Who needs snowflakes when you have seashells' is available in various colors such as red, blue yellow pink, and black. Each T-shirt has a fascinating text and image label that corresponds to the beach environment. These t-shirts can be washed a dry low heat in a washing mashing and it's available in multiple sizes to meet every customer's needs.

Thermalabs has made it clear that their beach t-shirt will be available to customers via Amazon.com, the world's number one e-commerce marketplace.
