Nootie is happy to announce to customers that the oatmeal dog shampoo and conditioner will be marked down this weekend. It is an exclusive flash sale on Amazon. Pet owners will be able to save up to 30% off the original MSRP for massive savings.

"Those who own dogs should definitely stock up on multiples of the Nootie Oatmeal Medicated Shampoo," a Nootie representative suggests. "This product is great for all dog breeds. It cleans extremely well, and also brings relief to dogs that are experiencing irritated or itchy skin. 1% Lidocaine HCL and 1% Pramoxine HCL are the main active ingredients. The colloidal oatmeal then kicks in to sooth and moisturize the skin. Dogs will feel as if they are having a spa day every time they take a bath."

Many Nootie customers have had wonderful results when using the Nootie oatmeal shampoo on their dogs. "This medicated oatmeal shampoo arrived sealed well and packaged securely. I have a westie that has recently developed some really sensitive skin and hot spots that have really been irritating him. After a couple washes, this shampoo has definitely helped him tremendously. The spots are definitely fading and he is scratching a lot less," a customer raves, "After the first wash, his coat was softer and smelled amazing. It even helped some of the hard spots on his white coat. This soap suds up nicely and you do not need much to cover the dog. I would definitely recommend this shampoo, especially if your dog is having skin issues."
