

Thermalabs Introduces Comprehensive Airbrushing System

Thermalabs has introduced yet another airbrushing system

May 20, 2017 (FPRC) -- Thermalabs today introduced Samana Art, a comprehensive new airbrushing system that can be used for nail art, body art, tattooing, cake decoration and many other airbrushing applications. This adds to six the total number of airbrushing machines the company has launched over the last few years, and all the same, underscores the firm's commitment to the global airbrushing market. According to Alex Howard, Thermalabs marketing coordinator, the new machine is ideal for makeup artists, tanning buffs, and tattoo salons.

Thermalabs is a leading producer of self-tanners based in New York City, USA. The company started out three years ago, manufacturing organic tanning lotions that delivered a bronzed tan within just 4 hours. This was significant given that most of the competition's products needed up to 6 hours to show results. Thermalabs pilot launch, the Gold Standard Tanner, was created from unique ingredients such as Aloe Vera and Green Tea. Upon launch, and following a widespread marketing campaign by Thermalabs back then, this product was a major hit in the market. It managed to sell over 10,000 units in week one alone and provided the brand exposure the new company needed to thrive in a rather competitive industry.

Thermalabs airbrushing systems are launched via Thermalabs Air, the company's specialized sub-brand for airbrushing products. In addition to the Samana Art, other airbrushing machines by the firm include the Inagua Series (which entails Inagua Art Pro, Inagua Spray Tan Pro, and Inagua Paint Pro). The company has also availed a number of full-size spray tan tents to be used with these machines.

Designed to be a one-stop-shop for all airbrushing needs, Thermalabs Samana system features a low-maintenance nozzle, adjustable spray patterns, a 3-speed turbine, and heated air function to facilitate super-easy application. The machine can be operated via a single button and works with all sorts of paints or makeups. The machine ships with a fashionable carry case and contains a leather case for the spray gun. Thermalabs has said that its machine is durable and superior compared to similar units from competing brands.

"We are excited to launch our Samana Art airbrushing system today. This is a comprehensive machine that's built to deliver on all airbrushing needs. Samana Art boasts a mini-spray gun, a low maintenance nozzle, heated air function, and adjustable spray patterns among other features. This is an excellent machine whether you're looking to spray tan, draw tattoos, body art, or even decorate cakes. The first batch of Samana Art is just available in the market, and customers can get it online via Amazon.com, or our official shopping website – www.thermalabs.biz," said Mr. Howard.
