

Nova Vento Entertainment Developing New Faith Film

Nova Vento Entertainment is proud to announce development of a new full length feature film for the faith-based market.

JUNE 22, 2021 – Dallas, TX - Nova Vento Entertainment is proud to announce development of a new full length feature film for the faith-based market. Working in conjunction with Cameron Arnett (Overcomer and I Still Believe) and his organization, Saving Destinies, the movie will look at what it means to truly embrace life and the long-term plan that God has for each of us. “We know that this topic is a heated subject and not everyone is ready to tackle it. We were fortunate to connect with the Arnetts, who wholeheartedly embraced the idea we had for the film.” says Brandon Smith, President of Nova Vento. “Their work with Saving Destinies goes above and beyond. It was a perfect fit for the messages we had already incorporated into this project.” Arnett agrees. “Every life saved has a purpose for which it is sent, and the right to step into their destiny.” Announced at the NRB (National Religious Broadcasters) convention in Dallas, the project is being penned by Lori Twitchell (A Horse Tale) and is slated for production in 2022, with a full theatrical release being planned for late 2022.
